

Another Milestone for The Windsor-Essex Parkway

McGuinty Government Pleased with Federal Approval of DRIC Study

NEWS

December 3, 2009

Ontario today welcomed Canada's approval of the Detroit River International Crossing (DRIC) Environmental Assessment under the Canadian Environmental Assessment Act.

Ontario will continue to make significant progress on this major infrastructure initiative, including:

- starting preliminary work (initial construction) including a noise barrier and bridges in south Windsor
- furthering the process to identify a team to design, build, finance and maintain the Parkway by issuing the request for proposals (RFP) document to short-listed teams
- acquiring remaining necessary property
- implementing environmental mitigation strategies
- working with Canada, the U.S. and Michigan on the coordinated implementation of the new end-to-end border transportation system.

QUOTES

"This project – and the most extensive transportation environmental assessment ever undertaken in our province's history – is a once in a generation undertaking. Every person who participated in a community meeting, sent an email or letter, played a part in the creation of the Windsor-Essex Parkway. This project will bring jobs into Windsor immediately and position Windsor for future economic growth."

— Dwight Duncan, MPP – Windsor-Tecumseh

"Today's announcement means that we're closer to seeing 12,000 project-related jobs created. The Windsor-Essex Parkway is good news for our community, for the province and for Canada."

— Sandra Pupatello, MPP – Windsor-West

"Thanks to the input of our communities and the hard work of the team, we are now ready to move forward on this historic project - the Windsor-Essex Parkway."

— Bruce Crozier, MPP – Essex

QUICK FACTS

- The Windsor-Essex Parkway will be owned by the Ontario government and jointly funded by Canada and Ontario. It will be designed, built, financed and maintained by a private sector partner.
- Approval under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act was received in August, 2009.
- The new border transportation system will provide freeway to freeway access from Ontario's Highway 401, by way of The Windsor-Essex Parkway, to the interstate system in Michigan. The plan includes new Canada and U.S inspection plazas and a new, six-lane bridge.
